The process of change in the Ottoman empire [by] Wilbur W. White ... Chicago, Ill., The University of Chicago press [1937]

ix, 314, [1] p. front. (map) 23½cm.

"The study was originally undertaken as a doctoral dissertation [PH. D., University of Chicago, 1935]"

"The territory of the old Ottoman empire fell rather definitely into three characteristic areas—the European, the African, the Asiatic ... only one country in each area has been fully developed [Greece, Egypt, and Iraq]. All the others in each area ... are grouped in a single chapter, which follows that on the type country."—Pref.

Earlier editions were issued by the firm of Richards & co., predecessor of W. W. White, under titles: Charges and general information relating to patents; General information relating to patents; etc. These have been out of date for a number of years, during which the "Patent and trade mark review" was used by White as his medium of communication. The present work (1912) is the first issue in separate form by the compiler. cf. Pref.

Whiting, John, 1656–1722.

Truth and innocency defended; against falshood and envy; and the martyrs of Jesus, and sufferers for his sake, vindicated. In answer to Cotton Mather (a priest of Boston) his calumnies, lyes and abuses of the people called Quakers, in his late church-history of New-England. With remarks and observations on several passages in the same, and his confessions to the just judgments of God on them. By John Whiting ... London, Printed and sold by T. Sowle, 1702.
